

CONTROL OF WORKPLACE HAZARDS TO REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH

- To protect the reproductive health of all workers from exposures to chemicals, radiation and biological agents, these hazardous working conditions should be eliminated or at least reduced as much as possible following the so-called hierarchy of controls; which is the ranking of methods that can be used in the workplace to prevent or minimize worker exposures, see Fig. 1.

FIG. (1): HIERARCHY OF CONTROLS

