

[A] OHS Program and Aspects that must meet
Questions		Y	N	N/A
1	Did your company develop an OHS program?
2	Is the OHS program you own workplace specific?
3	Is the OHS program you own effective and receive a top management support?
4	Is worker involvement essential in implementing your OHS program?
5	Is the responsibility of the OHS designated to a specific person(s) and is shared to all managers and supervisors?
6	Is the OHS program written and documented and properly linked?
7	Does the OHS program address the health and safety of subcontractors and their workers?
8	Is the OHS program effectively communicated with all employees? How?
9	While you are implementing the OHS program, do you put in your consideration the adaptation, evaluation, and enhancement of the OHS system to make the workplace safer?
COMMENTS
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

[B] Commitment of Top Management
Questions		Y	N	N/A
1	Is there an OHS policy? Is it reviewed and approved from the top management?
2	Is there a written OHS Objectives and Targets?

Impact of Environmental Pollutants on Reproductive Health (WHO funded Project)

OHS Inspection Checklist

Eng. Sherif M. Abdou

---

3	Is there a written plans containing OHS Objectives which showing duties, responsibilities, criteria, specifications, and expectations during achieving the OHS objectives throughout the entire company?
4	Does top management support OHS policy through investing effort, time, and money?
5	Does top management support OHS objectives and targets through developing an effective system for training and accountability, and keep monitoring the rate of objectives and targets achievement?
6	Does top management support the OHS rules through insisting on educating employees on those rules at all company levels, and providing the employees with the appropriate tools for compliance?

7- Do managers and supervisors personally adhere to safety rules?

8) Do Managers participate in safety training?

9) Do managers establish positive relationships with their followers?

10) Do managers care about employees' safety and success on the job?

[C] Labor & Management Accountability

1) How does top management establish clear standards to enforce safety?

2) Does top management provide resources to achieve these standards? How?

3) How can top management measure performance against theses standard?

4) Describe how does top management apply accountability throughout the company?

5) What are the responsibilities assigned for line managers?

6) What are the responsibilities assigned for safety committee?